Join us at this interdisciplinary meeting aimed at coping with the 'real' problems that only education, industry and local government working together can solve. Raise your issues for discussion with international experts from around the world.

Be a part of our vision to create new projects of the emerging academic discipline - Knowledge Based Development. Join us to establish relationships and partnerships with business and government.

Learn how the City of Holon transformed itself from a deteriorating city into the renowned "Children's City".

Visit the Upper Galilee region recognized by the European Union as a 'Region of Knowledge' and discover how kibbutz, hi-tech, traditional industry and state-of-the-art science are collaboration to make the region a success story

Hear Local Government officials share their stories behind branding their city/region, and seek advice on their problems from an international panel of experts.
